Children & Family Ministry

Rosa Connolly
425-483-9400 ext. 2648

This Sunday's Gospel calls us to forgive each other "seventy-seven times."

This doesn't mean we keep a tally of each other's offenses. Instead, God calls us to forgive each other as many times as it takes, just as he forgives us.

The marriage researcher John Gottman has proven that strong marriages and strong families depend upon the capacity to forgive. No matter how good the marriage or how loving the family, we will commit sins against the ones we love. Families that cannot forgive will struggle, while those that readily forgive will thrive.

Forgiveness is more than a skill that leads to emotional health. In forgiving, we become more like God and his son Jesus. Seen through the eyes of faith, forgiveness is a prerequisite for becoming who we are meant to be: children of God.

Talk

Here are some reflection questions to help you have Great Conversations with the whole family.

Model these five behaviors to show our children what forgiveness looks like:

- Be humble. Jesus teaches us we are sinners who owe more to God than any person could ever owe to us. So let go of the need to be right, be willing to acknowledge your wrongdoing and prepare to say "I'm sorry" - even if you feel the other person is guilty of a greater wrong.
- Pick the right time. Sometimes we need a little time to let our emotions calm down. Give yourself and the other person time if they need it.
- Start soft. Use gentle words, be vulnerable, and be mindful of your tone of voice.
- Give them a free one. The other person may not react well at first. If they say something like "Well what you were saying was really mean," resist the urge to argue. Listen and be ready to apologize.
- Tell them you care. Be vulnerable enough to tell the other person the relationship matters to you and you want to work it out.

Is your family in need of some calm?

SPIRITUAL ADOPTION—EIGHTH MONTH

"I Like To Listen To My Mommy's Voice"

In the last two months the baby continues to gain weight. Her skin will soon begin to thicken, smooth out and become pink. Wrinkles disappear as the baby gains fat deposits which store nourishment and provide insulation to keep her warm after she is born. Antibodies build up to start to protect against a wide range of illnesses. With a normal weight of five pounds, the baby fits snugly within the womb. Towards the end of the eighth month, it will only be possible for the baby to turn from side to side-no more summersaults. The baby will now most likely settle into a head-down position, preparing for birth. Her lungs are now fully developed and capable of making the transition to breathing air. Next Month our parish Respect Life Committee will have a baby shower the entire month to celebrate the birth of our spiritual adopted babies that we have been praying for the last eight months. More information & details coming.

RESPECT LIFE COMMITTEE

Please pray for these expectant mothers: Chrissy Cuda, Carrie Hansen, Jesse Harmon & Tera Linde. We pray that you will have a healthy pregnancy and a safe delivery for your baby. Congratulations to these new parents: Michael & Lauryn Boxx, baby girl, Ellyn Ann Boxx. We thank God for this little one and ask God to bless and give you much joy as you raise your little girl. If you are expecting a baby and would like your parish family to pray for you, please call Mary Hradec at 425-275-1896.
